

Dr. Anne Lange joined the DHPol as a researcher in October 2020. She currently works on the evaluation of German contributions to security sector reform (SSR) programs worldwide. She is also responsible for the many trainings and research events of her unit and is the main contact for this.

Anne Lange holds a PhD in Political Science. Her research focuses on international peace and security operations (in particular of the UN and the EU). She is particularly interested in the role of the police in international peace and security operations and in SSR programs, and in how the actors involved in these operations and programs cooperate. She conducted field research in Haiti, Kosovo, Western Sahara/Morocco, and Timor Leste. She is a member of the Academic Council on the United Nations System (ACUNS) and the United Nations Association of Germany (DGVN).
